A great communicator, as comfortable in a board room as on a factory floor.

Wally's words of wisdom which he has graciously left us to contemplate:

The appreciation of good scotch is something to be cultivated and enjoyed in whatever quantity one seems appropriate;

Always live prudently and within your means but drive a nice car;

Respect is earned and should not be taken for granted;

There is nothing in life to which you are entitled;
Humility is a characteristic well served by others;
Accept responsibility whatever the circumstance;
Relish in the success of others!

Great Job Uncle Wally!

You have touched a multitude of people in such a positive way.
Thanks for the adventure.
