We had a need to speak to you
A need to say your name.
Since you were born just days ago
Our lives haven't been the same.
We have a need to see your face,
A need to touch your hair.
We want to hold you in our arms
So much, but you're not there.
The sadness is still deep inside,
Can't help the way we feel.
You are, and always will be ours
Our love for you is real.
For now we have your pictures
And the sad, sweet memories.
I guess our needs will have to wait
So we'll be content with these.
