Marie was probably the best person I've ever been blessed to meet. Whenever I seemed to need it the most, I was always very welcomed by Marie and Larry, spending Christmas Day (and Christmas night) was always a highlight of the season for me, especially after both of my own folks passed away.

Empathy and caring seemed to be always there, and in abundance, not because it was the right thing to do, but because it was second-nature just based on being such a great person.

Marie and her glowing personality will be very sorely missed I'm sure by all blessed enough to have known her. Larry, Sandi, Rick, Doug, Dane, Stacy and Darian, I'm also sure are in a great number of people's thoughts, and on their hearts right now.
